Did you learn something today that would change your practice?

- Side position
- Yes. I am going to try and put something in place that will really push, encourage and champion much longer skin to skin!! 8-24 hours will recommend
- Yes more skin to skin. To try and get babies brought up to the ward doing skin to skin
- Supportive strategies for premature infants
- Yes
- Absolutely discouraging dream feeding (not that I ever actively encouraged it)!
- Sher number of babies with silent reflux
- Yes, lots of helpful information and tips to try when in practice
- To look more closely when bottle feeding to see if the baby is really ready to feed and when to spot signs that the baby is ready to finish
- I feel more confident about some of the scenarios regarding breastfeeding
- Yes. It's ok not to rush to get a baby to breast feed as we sometimes push for the mum to say they have to feed. Also bottle feeding information I found useful
- Yes, give the baby time to explore for themselves
- Last presentation was excellent
- Yes, reluctant feeder session was helpful and some good advice to put into practice

Is there any further information that you can provide that would have enhanced your study day experience?

- Learning about different needs and ways to not rush a baby to feed
- Could we make it more BFI aimed at midwives. A lot of the course was aimed at babies on NNU or TC
- None at this time
- It was brilliant and covered a lot of information. I especially found the sessions by SLT very useful and can apply to practice. Thank you
- 5 minute comfort break in the afternoon, to reduce the need to leave during a session
- Lots of new information to take on board! Thank you
- I think the days really well planned. Paula Peirce was fabulous and very approachable regarding any questions and made you feel included and welcomed. Julia Cooper and Wendy Rogers equally as brilliant along with the lady who gave the chat on the 2nd part of day 2. Thank you for your time ladies, I have thoroughly enjoyed it
- No
- Some content not relevant as we do not have much feeding input with TC babies as midwives
- Probably better face-to-face
- The afternoon session contained a lot of information and felt a bit heavy, the morning session felt more engaging
- Good communication and presentation
- Maybe doing one of the sessions face-to-face
